DETAILED ACTION

Summary

1. This is the first office action on the merits for application number 10/593,556 filed September 20, 2006.
2. Claims 1, 6-8 and 12-15 are currently pending and have been fully considered.

Priority

3. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1, 6-8 and 12-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by BUN et al (English Machine Translation of JP 2002-084006 A).

Regarding claim 1, BUN et al teaches a thermoelectric material composed of a thermoelectric material and other ingredients, including a void forming agent, employed in the creation of stoma, or pores, as taught in paragraphs 39-41, 44. The powder particles are stated to be less than 1 micron in paragraph 48. The sintering process is described in paragraphs 51 and 52 where a controlled oxidative or reduction process is preferred.

Art Unit: 1795

Regarding claim 6, BUN et al teaches a thermoelectric material composed of a thermoelectric material and other ingredients, including a void forming agent, employed in the creation of stoma, or pores, as taught in paragraphs 39-41, 44. The powder particles are stated to be less than 1 micron in paragraph 48. The sintering process is described in paragraphs 51 and 52 where a controlled oxidative or reduction process is preferred. Paragraphs 51-53 also address the temperature application of the material for the formation of the pores.

Regarding claims 7 and 12, BUN et al teaches densification through the use of calcification and sintering treatments to remove void forming material in paragraphs 52 and 53.

Regarding claims 8 and 13, paragraphs 51-53 also address the temperature application of the material for the formation of the pores.

Regarding claims 14 and 15, paragraph 49 teaches the blend of materials for stoma production to the thermoelectric material to be 3 to 90 %. Since the particle sizes are less than 1 micron, the smallest distance between voids is less than 1 micron.

Conclusion
